VITAMIN

01

The export market price of vitamin B12 has remained stable recently. Specifically, the transaction price of feed-grade vitamin B12 is about US$13.5/KG. The current market trend is stable, but we still need to pay close attention to the inventory of factories and channels in order to respond to possible market changes in a timely manner.

AMINO ACID

02

Threonine: Currently, manufacturers are eager to raise prices, resulting in tight spot supply in the market. Although prices have climbed to a relatively high level, end users are cautious in purchasing and most choose to wait and see. Based on this, it is predicted that the threonine market will remain strong in the short term.

API

03

Recently, the taurine market has been affected by the shutdown and maintenance of some factories producing the main raw material ethylene oxide, and the supply has been tight. Since taurine factories have been under great price pressure in the early stage, many factories have chosen to adjust prices in a centralized manner. At present, the price quoted by mainstream factories is around USD1.65/KG. Judging from the current situation, the market price of taurine is expected to remain strong.

FOOD ADDITIVE

04

Recently, the DHA fermentation process optimization project of Roquette Bio-Nutrition Products (Wuhan) Co., Ltd. was announced. The total investment is 8.01 million yuan, and it will be carried out in the existing plant area. It includes adding fermentation feed, repairing flotation equipment, etc., and the construction period is 8 months. DHA is one of the essential fatty acids for the human body. The construction scale is to produce 480 tons of DHA oil per year, part of which will be sold and part of which will be used for powder preparation.
